THE 1980s: DECADE OF OPPORTUNITY

A recent article in the Toronto Star caught my eye. It began this way: "One of Canada's top Christian communicators says that the major problem facing the churches in the 1980s is to find new ways, new language, to express who Jesus is for modern man." So argues the Very Rev. Herbert O'Driscoll, dean of Christ Church Anglican Cathedral in Vancouver.

"For the first time since the fourth century we are being forced again to answer the question of how you express the profound mystery of Jesus being both human and divine. We simply have to find new forms and can't run away from this any longer."

What a glorious opportunity this presents for the New Church! An Anglican bishop is saying that what the churches — and Christians in general — need most of all right now is an intelligent, Scriptural, satisfying concept of the Lord. How could Jesus Christ be both God and Man? For about 1800 years scholars have been debating, sometimes fighting, over this basic question. Thousands of books have been written on this subject. For the growing Christian person nothing is more important. Ultimately every part of our Christian life and faith hangs on our concept of the Lord. This is central. And if this foundation is weak and uncertain, then our entire belief structure bends in the wind and is of little help to us.

We need to proclaim the clear New Church teaching revealing the nature of the Lord Jesus Christ. This is one of our primary missions. That the Lord Jesus Christ was and is fully God and fully Man. That Almighty God has shown Himself to us in the face of the Glorified Christ. That God is a Divine Person whom we can approach and know and love in the Transfigured Lord . . . in His Divine Humanity. That the One God who visited us in the person of Jesus Christ still walks beside us today. Can we tell this to the world in words that will catch fire in the hearts of people? Is this not a glorious challenge — and opportunity!

And this is only one facet of a many-splendored opportunity. People today are seeking for an authentic spiritual dimension to life. They don't want a lot of speculation or vague theory — they want to experience vital Truth and Love within themselves. Truth about the reality of the spiritual world. Truth about the meaning of their lives. Truth about human relationships and our relationship with the Lord.

This is what so many people today are talking about and desperately want to experience in their own lives. And the New Age teachings, properly presented, dispel the shadows. "Let your light so shine before the world . . ."

This is an age of seekers . . . the Wholistic concept of life is growing like wildfire . . . old intellectual and theological boundaries are crumbling . . . thousands of "light centers" are emerging all around the world . . . more people are recognizing that planet Earth is the garment of God and must be carefully nurtured. What a grand time to be alive!

What a wonderful opportunity for the New Church in the 1980s and beyond.

If we are awake to it.

The Starting Line —————by Eric Zacharias

The 1980 convention theme, "The New Church in the New Decade", has been taking the course of the long distance runner through my mind. At times, like the runner, it disappears over the hill and around the bend — only to emerge again — but never coming completely to rest. These are uncertain times. Tim Timmons is the Director of Maximum Life Communications. In his book, Maximum Living in a Pressure - Cooker World he writes, "The world is passing us by so fast that it becomes nearly impossible for a person to get his/her head together long enough to consider: Why am I? Who am I? Where am I? . . . We are aboard a train which is gathering speed, racing down a track on which there are an unknown number of switches leading to unknown destinations. No single scientist is in the engine cab and there may be demons at the switches. Most of society is in the caboose looking backward. Everything is out of control. It's like having your feet firmly planted in midair."

Similar sentiments to the above quote are the focus of much that is being written today, heard on our street corners across this land and amplified in a variety of ways from pulpits on Sunday morning.

In an attempt to bring our convention theme into perspective, I began taking inventory of our resources. We have available to us God's Word, a revelation in the writings of Emanuel Swedenborg, and the genius of our people. Out of these we must draw the strength, the wisdom, the love and determination to become partners with the Lord in our response to the conditions and circumstances of our time. Even more — not only responding but hopefully providing leadership which will help plant the feet of society in the ground of solid principles.

Where and how, then, do we make our response as a New Church in this new decade? Is this the time to retrench? To severely cut back our programs? To return to the basics? To withdraw into a cocoon that marks a purely survival syndrome? To simply ride out the storm?

It seems hardly fitting of the grand design of the New Jerusalem that we should now be content to wall ourselves in — "to fight another day." The words of the prophet Isaiah seem so appropriate for this moment. "Enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of thine habitations: spare not, lengthen thy cords, and strengthen thy stakes." The injunction here is to go deeper and at the same time to move out.

The General Council is cognizant of this changing world. Already underway is a critical evaluation of our resources. A request is in the hands of all key personnel that they initiate a review of our programs and activities. The suggested criteria for this review? I quote from a statement accepted by the Resources Committee. "We propose three pragmatic criteria, closely interrelated, for evaluation of Convention programs. Briefly, these are growth, excellence, and unity."

Convention's Department of Education is very much at the center of the life of our Church. The March meeting held at Almont, Michigan gave ample demonstration of the awareness which this Board has of its role. Under the leadership of the Rev. Ronald Brugler a positive learning experience is being planned for all children who attend the 1980 convention with their parents. A variety of mini - courses ranging in nature from the theological to social issues will be offered. Regional institutes, training and learning opportunities will be initiated by this Board during the course of the year.

In its effort to relate to the people in the churches, the entire Board of Education joined with the Detroit congregation in the worship service on Sunday morning, March 16th. The Rev. David Rienstra, from Fryeburg, Maine, delivered the sermon. Following the service and dinner, the Board membership, in a panel format, met with the congregation for a time of sharing, and listening. We appreciate the warm welcome given us in Detroit.

Our convention theme opens the way for creativity in the preparations of our banners this year. This is an opportunity for every congregation to give visible expression to its aspirations for the New Church in the new decade. What would you like to have our Church be and become during the '80s?

A VISION FOR GENERAL CONVENTION

by Calvin Turley

And I saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband; and I heard a great voice from the throne saying, "Behold, the dwelling of God is with people. He will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself will be with them . . ."

(Rev. 21:2, 3)

When I think of ministry, the church and religious experience, there is for me no more exciting vision than that of the Holy City, New Jerusalem descending out of heaven from God. At times I can thrill in response to the image and my body experiences a surge of energy that flows like a wave of grain from the top of my head to the ends of my toes and back again. And further, to personally participate in a fulfilment of the promise — to experience an ultimatum of the vision of God's personal presence as with you — to encounter the Divine Human experientially, not just theologically — that is nearly too much! Life overflows (Ps. 8) into an ecstasy of joy and wonderment beyond words. Transcendent truth becomes an awareness, at least for a time and a season, and one's world view is never the same again. There is in the whole image of the Holy City, New Jerusalem something so overwhelmingly experiential, holistic and personal that it is with some hesitation that I even seek to speak or write of it. Yet, from time to time, often at unexpected moments, the energy must of necessity spill over into sounds and words.

Reflecting on the vision and experience, one wonders, "What is that city like? What would it be like to live there? Would I recognize it if I saw it?" John saw it. We can listen to his report. With spiritual eyes he looked and from an inner vision he reported what he saw. "I saw no temple in the city . . ." (Strange. Wonder where the people gathered for worship on Sunday morning?) ". . . for the temple is the Lord God the Almighty and the Lamb?" (Wow! No wonder he didn't see any temple. He must be sensing a different kind of relationship. Perhaps the experiencing of God as actively present in one's own personal history day by day, moment by moment.) "And the city has no need of sun or moon to shine upon it . . ." (That's different. How does one see to get around?) ". . . for the glory of God is its light, and its lamp is the Lamb." (Fantastic! Beautiful! But I wonder, how would one experience that light? As "out there" or as "in here?" I'm getting the sense that this is a very special kind of city.) "Its gates shall never be shut by day — and there shall be no night there . . ." (There is certainly something reassuring about that. Still . . .?)

Now I remember. John was "in the spirit." This is a spiritual experience, an interior knowing of transcendent truth, being shared in the pedantry of language. The words are being stretched, and sometimes overloaded, as inadequate vehicles of communication. The truth of the vision transcends the definitions of the words. This New Jerusalem is indeed ". . . a very special kind of city." Well, if a "city" isn't a "city", what is it? When is a "city" not a "city"? When it's a relationship! And if the city is the New Jerusalem, it's a new, more personal relationship with the Lord. That's it! The Holy City, New Jerusalem is a new era, a time of more personal experiencing of God as the Lord. We could certainly expect that relationships within the City would be characterized more by person-to-person encounter than by the formalities of propriety and custom; more open, free and spontaneous, I should think.

Swedenborg had his revelatory experience, too. What help do we find there? ". . . The tabernacle (dwelling place) of God is with men," he writes, "signifies the Lord from love speaking and declaring the glad tidings, that He Himself will now be present with men (people) in His Divine Human." (AR 882) As usual, Swedenborg's Latin translated into English comes out sounding heavy and heady. But take a minute.

Sit up straight. Take a deep breath and slowly blow it out. Feel your body relax and let your mind be quiet and centered. Before your closed eyes let an image arise in response to the Lord, from love, speaking to you and declaring the glad tidings that He Himself is present with you. . . . Can you sense the Lord standing beside you in the kitchen, or in the back yard, or at work lovingly sharing with you the experience of his presence? . . .

That's personal . . .

And it makes a difference.

Reflecting on your brief meditation, perhaps you sensed the relationship as reciprocal, as interpersonal, as a true dwelling with the Lord this moment of this day. “. . . To dwell,” writes Swedenborg (AR 883), “signifies conjunction from love . . .” And this experience, he insists, is something more than a sense of presence, it is an interpersonal relationship. “. . . Conjunction with the Lord is one thing, and His presence another; conjunction with the Lord is not given except to those who approach Him immediately . . .” (Ibid.)

It seems clear that the religious experience and life in the Holy City, New Jerusalem is characterized by very loving, open, and interpersonal kinds of relationships with the Lord — and with others. Perhaps Swedenborg’s distinction between experiencing the “presence of the Lord” and “conjunction with the Lord” is not very clear as an abstract idea, but it can become a vivid awareness as an experience.

How might this image of the Holy City, New Jerusalem become a vision for our General Convention? How might it translate into our corporate life as a church body and into our personal lives as individual members of that body?

In short, we need to dream dreams. But before that, perhaps, we need to recapture our ability to dream dreams and to have visions. I don’t doubt the presence of the Lord with everyone of us. What seems more uncertain is our experiential knowing of conjunction with the Lord. However that may be, the exciting challenge and opportunity before us is to freely choose and to commit our energies to the seeking of the means, and the exploration of the methods, which will facilitate the experiential knowing of conjunction with the Lord. This I believe to be the validating purpose of our ministries, the reason - for - our - being as a church, and the desire of our Lord for our personal lives. It is “A Vision for General Convention” which I want to seek and share with you.

CALVIN E. TURLEY

President

My ministry to the Church began in 1952 and I have served in Portland, Oregon; Bellevue, Washington and on the Faculty of the Swedenborg School of Religion. It has been my privilege to serve the Church on numerous boards and committees over the years including General Council, the Executive Committee of the Council of Ministers, the Board of Missions and the Planning and Development Committee. I have given leadership in Stewardship and Benevolence for Convention, the Council of Churches of Portland, Oregon and the National Council of Churches. For five years I gave leadership to our Post Convention Conference and, with Marilyn, for five years co - led the Florida Conference for "Persons Who Have Lived Longer."

In 1969, after seventeen years in the ministry, I returned to the Claremont School of Theology from which I received the Doctor of Ministry degree in Pastoral Counseling in 1971. I am a Diplomate of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors, a Clinical Member of the American Association of Marriage and Family Therapists, a Professional Member of the Massachusetts Psychological Association, a licensed Psychologist (Massachusetts), and a licensed Marriage, Family and Child Counselor (California).

Most important to me, however, is my ordination into the Christian ministry in 1953. That remains my primary professional identity. If elected President of Convention, I will seek to bring a strong pastoral emphasis to that office, doing my best to enhance the spiritual well-being of both our professional clergy and our laity. The vision of the Holy City New Jerusalem is for me an exciting spiritual image. It will be my single purpose to nurture that image into a living and vital vision for our General Convention.

I have served in the ministry of the Swedenborgian Church for 26 years including pastorates in Wilmington, Delaware, and Washington, D.C., the presidency of Convention, and presently as an associate minister at the Wayfarers' Chapel. I have a special interest in our theological school and served for several years as chairman of the Board of Managers. It is especially important that we maintain high standards for our ministry, and I would like to work with students from the time of their admission to the school until their graduation and ordination to help prepare them for a ministry that is challenging to them and provides strong leadership for our church.

I offer a background of experience in various forms of ministry spanning a period of fifteen years. Such experience could be useful in serving on a Board guiding the preparation of individuals for ministry.

Ordained in 1964, my first experience was gained in a parish ministry at San Diego. Five years later, I served on an experimental team ministry at Kemper Road Center in an "ex-urban" community exploring and implementing new ministries. Then, on a "work-sabbatical" from ministry I trained and worked first as a driving instructor and then as a restaurant manager. These experiences ultimately helped me to become recommitted to my life's work: the Christian ministry. I presently serve as pastor of the Washington Society at the National Swedenborgian Church in Washington, D.C. Here, in an urban setting, a marriage and family ministry known as "The Wedding Chapel" is being integrated into the life of a parish ministry.

I believe that variety produces richness and completeness. I wish to bring my experience and concerns to a Board where they can contribute to the development of ministry.

RONALD BRUGLERSSR Board of Managers*

Ten years ago while attending Urbana College I discovered the teachings of the New Church and began my relationship with Convention. This relationship has seen me through four years at Urbana, four years at the Swedenborg School of Religion, and so far two years in our ministry. I serve the Pittsburgh - Cleveland Joint Ministry and the Board of Education as Religious Education Resource Person. I am also superintendent of the Almont New Church Assembly, and one of our representatives to the Governing Board of the National Council of Churches of Christ.

Consequently, I speak from my own experiences when I say that we have an educational arm of the church of which we can be proud. Be it a class in a Sunday School, Urbana College, a church camp, or the Swedenborg School of Religion, there is the opportunity for utilizing our church's unique potential. In accepting the nomination for the Board of Managers I realize this and feel that I can bring to the position both the experiences of a recent student, and a deep appreciation of the professional skills that the faculty seeks to promote.

Kemper Road Center believes that religion should touch our lives at all points, challenging us to raise our present experience to spiritual heights by transmitting our religious insights into the living tissue of permanent Christian character.

Potent Christianity is strengthened by the direct relationship that flows from the Lord to the individual and back again. There is no age limit on a religious spirit.

Real worship consists of putting into action in our daily lives the Christian principles of faith which we profess. Each individual is precious in the sight of the Lord. And, as such, the individual is important and precious to Kemper Road Center.

We believe that in the framework of a nurturing Christian fellowship, an individual may grow into the fullness for which one was created. Kemper Road Center is a fellowship of people dedicated to the process of their own spiritual growth.

We welcome you to Kemper Road Center and invite you to participate in your own growth process. We extend to you our fellowship and supportive community.

We share with all who are seeking a deeper inner life our conviction that there is an integral relationship and harmony between the beauty of God's natural world and the inner world of our spirit and personality.

Swedenborgian Minority Intellect

Minorities frequently operate from the “we would if we could but we can’t so we won’t” syndrome. This is readily apparent in the Swedenborgian Church. We tend to dismiss things out of hand because of our smallness or because of our own diverse needs. But precisely because of these two things we have unlimited possibilities and challenges.

Kemper Road Center for Religious Development, the Swedenborgian Church in the greater Cincinnati area, sees increasing areas of service, reasons for optimism and ever-widening circles of Swedenborgian influence and impact.

In this special edition of The Messenger, we share with you our vision and hope for our heritage. We open the doors of Kemper Road Center and invite you to share in our life. In doing so, we remind you that this is only one approach, one way, one outlook for actualizing our faith.

However, we strongly feel and believe that each of our sister churches has the same potential, similar resources available and a sufficient core group to effectively counteract the minority intellect. Kemper Road Center shares with you our struggle, search, mission and journey in the hope that you may see the enthusiasm, energy, effort and results that are possible for your own congregation.

Figures Are Deceiving

What's the membership of Kemper Road Centre? That's a good question! It all depends on whom you ask and on what you mean by membership.

Many people in the Cincinnati area have heard of Kemper Road Center. Frequently their idea of our membership is somewhere between 500 - 1000. The reality is that our paid per capita membership is 34. Some of these are infirm and/or out - of - town. The core group is about 12.

However, if you mean by membership those helping to financially support the Center, the number would be significantly higher. If you mean by membership those actively participating in our programs, then the number would be quite large.

Thus, figures are deceiving! What is important for Kemper Road Center's purpose is the fact that we have developed ongoing programs that are meeting the needs of people from the community, and that we are able to do this with just a handful of people. What is important for our sister churches is the knowledge that they can do it, too!

Sunday Morning Programming

Sunday morning worship, education and fellowship lie at the heart of Kemper Road Center's programming. Those attending do so out of a desire to be present as opposed to some mythological ought. Because of this approach, intensity and receptivity are very much in evidence.

Our worship experiences vary — formal worship one week, guided meditation the next, family worship (including all ages of children) another week, dialogue participation another week. Worshipers at Kemper Road Center are very much involved in the whole process of their spiritual growth.

Our lovely sanctuary with handcarved candle sticks, baptismal font, altar and pulpit are symbols of continuity. These beautiful pieces of furniture were saved from our old church building. They blend in nicely with our new building while reminding us of our past heritage and journey.

The pastor's class on Swedenborgian concepts is using as a guide Bob Kirven's Correspondence Course. At present we are investigating the psychic structure of man.

Using Freud's model of the id and Jung's model of the collective unconscious as stepping stones, we are presently immersed in Swedenborg's anima and animus. As we understand more of who we are and why and how we operate, we gain the freedom to make new choices and new growth.

The young people have their learning time, too. Here we see the fruits of their archeological dig. Fossils tell of prehistoric time and reflect the wonder of God's creation. "And God saw everything that He had made, and behold, it was very good."

Our new music director is practicing on the piano instead of our lovely pipe organ. We are trying to sell our pipe organ to make room for needed classroom expansion.

Kemper Road Center offers monthly workshops for all children ages 4 to 10. We feel one of the significant benefits of this approach is the opportunity to take an idea, or theme, and carry it through to completion in the 4 - hour time period. Since each workshop is separate, children are free to attend as many or as few as they wish without that lost feeling when they've missed one.

The themes chosen are flexible enough to allow us to adapt crafts and games to them as well as to explore some portion of our philosophy in the story and discussion period. The popularity of the Saturday Children's Workshops has spread so that now pre-registration is necessary and a limit set at 50 children — last month (March) some had to be turned away.

Our Day Camp program is for 4 — 8 year olds. It is held right at Kemper Road Center on our five and one - half acre site. There are woods and a creek to explore, rolling meadows to run through, a recently built cabin in the woods “classroom,” and playground equipment for fun and exercise.

Our program includes nature lore, story - time with magic, crafts, games, sharing, singing and snacks.

Workshops and all - day symposiums, investigating those areas of conflict and mystery which impinge on our freedoms, help us in our ongoing process of spiritual growth.

These pictures, taken of our just completed all - day Anger Symposium, show some of the leaders, small group interactions and some of the large crowds.

Sixty - one people attended this symposium. Eighty per cent were non - Kemper Road Center people. We had one outside presenter, Rev. Dick Donnenwirth, head of pastoral care and counseling at Bethesda Hospital in Cincinnati. However, we really do not count him as an outsider as he has done other workshops for us in the past.

The rest of the staff were KRC people: Dr. Edward Hackett, area psychiatrist in private practice with a special interest in group therapy; Rev. Dick Tafel, our minister, with a special interest in communication; Ms. Carole Stanford, KRC staff member with special interests in women's issues.

We utilized the skills of three other KRC people as well. Linda Tafel did the menu planning, food purchasing, food preparation and serving. Gloria Toot and Marge Antstenis served as small group facilitators. Both women have co - led groups with Dick at the Center. Two other people should also be mentioned: Marvin and Susan Wood who worked behind the scenes as clean - up person and food - server, respectively.

We Would Be Building

Kemper Road Center's nearly completed camp and retreat center, Beside - The - Point, is the result of a dream turned into reality by a lot of hard work. This facility, all housed in one building, will accomodate 50 campers as well as staff. It is suitable for one or more families for vacation use or for 7 or 8 couples for weekend retreats and growth experiences.

The structure was completely built by KRC hands and those of friends. What makes this so exciting as we look towards the June 8th dedication is that everyone said it couldn't be done — not enough money — not enough help — not enough experience. But, they did not count on the determination of Sweden - borgians.

When completed, this camp retreat center will become an integral part of the church's overall program. Located 60 miles from the church, it is within easy driving distance of Cincinnati. Plans are already underway to develop this into a retreat facility for other churches to rent.

Summer Camp

Our overnight camping program is held at Beside - The - Point at Rocky Fork Lake. The multi - purpose building houses the boys' and girls' dorms, kitchen, dining room, recreation room, staff rooms and restroom facilities.

The camp setting is secluded and beautiful, sitting on a point of land jutting out into the lake. There is plenty of elbow room for hiking and exploring as well as space for our outdoor theater and campfire ring.

Our daily schedule includes swimming, discussion groups, water skiing, campfires, fishing, sailing, hiking, nature lore and sharing times. Each camper and staff member is expected to do his / her share of camp chores.

The camp staff has been carefully chosen to blend the qualities of empathy, openness and listening with those of teaching, leading and modeling.

WEDDING CHAPEL MINISTRY

The outdoor chapel looks desolate, undressed for winter. However, very soon it will be a beehive of activity. The natural beauty of this chapel and grounds attracts many couples who want to celebrate their union in marriage. Located in a grove of trees and surrounded by shrubs and bushes, this chapel has no roof or walls.

The waterfall and pools, located behind the hill (just behind the wedding chapel sign and our wedding coordinator, Carole) set the mood for a sense of oneness with God and nature.

The marriage license and ceremony do not make a marriage. Rather, the trust, respect, openness and caring that are shared and developed make a relationship what it is and can be.

Marriage can open the door to a new unity whereby your own individuality and uniqueness may grow into a new fullness. This emerges as each of you brings from your own background and experience all that you are and blend this into what you are to become together.

GREETINGS TO ALL THE ALLIANCE MEMBERS!

Greetings to all the Alliance members!

Our Editor has said that "the time has come for some words of wisdom from the President of the Alliance."

Whether or not these qualify as words of wisdom is a question, but here goes!

Convention, as most of you know, will be held on the campus of Wellesley College outside of Boston, Massachusetts, in late June. This is a most attractive place and handy to the historical and cultural attractions of the Boston area.

The Alliance meeting will be held in connection with the Alliance luncheon on Saturday, June 28, approximately at noon — it may be 12:30 or 1 p.m. — the program is not final as yet. The afternoon is free for sightseeing so we will not be rushed to finish by any stated time.

At this time we will hold our Annual Meeting, elect officers, and hear reports of what has occurred during the past year. The speaker for the day has not been chosen at this time, but I have requested the Massachusetts Alliance to discuss this matter, and to let me know if they know of anyone who is particularly qualified.

I wonder how much thought any of our Alliance members have given to the problems of energy conservation, and conservation of natural resources in general. This is a particular interest of mine, and there is quite a lot we can do individually to help — from recycling aluminum pans and cans, car-pooling, conserving electricity and water at home to supporting efforts to devise alternative energy sources. All of us can at least strive to be informed on the subject.

I look forward to meeting many of you in Wellesley in June.

FROM WESTERN CANADA

Lisa Reddekopp has written an extremely interesting account of her new life in Kelowna, British Columbia. In a note to the editor she adds:

"Our son, now in Dubar with his family, bought this duplex house and we live in one side . . . We have several friends here, as it seems to be a winter retreat from the cold prairie winters. Snow comes and goes rather quickly, though it stays in the mountains which we can see from our dining room window. This is where I watch the geese, and in the spring across the road there will be a cherry orchard in blossom."

Each day I can watch the flocks of wild geese fly past our house, from their feeding grounds. It is always with a sense of awe and amazement! I see them rise in an unorganized fashion, and after scoldings and admonishings, the laggards usually form their special pattern and head towards the Okanagan open lake, to get on with the business of a daily dip.

The city of Kelowna, which roughly interpreted means "Grizzly Bear" is in a beautiful fruit valley, a chain of lakes runs through its length. Since the summer weather is idyllic, tourists dominate the scene. There is excellent fishing, camping, swimming and boating, — but come the wintertime, it belongs again to the citizens, and their lives are quite normal. Curling, bowling, live plays and snowfests for entertainment — a fine Junior college gives Adult Courses in Arts and Crafts; lectures and workshops of general interest and concerns, so we in no way miss out on culture or activities. Indeed, essentially the life style and industry is not much different from that to which we have become accustomed.

Snowfest and Gymkhana have become new words in our vocabulary! Skidoos glide through the snow and travel the iced lakes. These are a common sight . . . and there are others who ski in the immediate area! Celcius has taken over for Farenheit and kilometers for miles.

It is here, Erwin and I decided to call home with about 60,000 other folks!

It is not too often anyone has the privilege or opportunity, after 32 years, of retracing one's steps and starting over again. We did!

Leaving Cambridge and the theological school in 1948, we moved to Winnipeg, Manitoba, the most eastern of the four Prairie Provinces, and from there as headquarters, branched out to four other church societies, namely Roblin, Boggy Creek and Flin Flon in Manitoba, and Yorkton, Saskatchewan to the west.

In 1950 we moved to Yorkton, still under the Board of Missions, serving the same group but adding Broadview, Sask.

Two years later, we moved still further west, and we called Edmonton, Alberta our home for eleven years. There, with the help of stalwart and dedicated parishoners and friends, the first New Church camp was established at Paulhaven. It was a tremendous undertaking and accomplishment. On several occasions, visits were made to Calgary, as well as Meadow Lake, Sask.

The next 16 years of our lives were spent serving the Detroit and San Francisco Societies, and now we have arrived back in Canada, 1059 miles north of San Francisco! Under the auspices of the Western Canada Conference (equivalent to an Association) and the Mission Board, Erwin is the visiting pastor, calling on many of the same people — but traveling eastward this time! It is a paradox living in Western Canada; how quickly one feels isolated from the larger church (Convention) yet, how at home we are with the folks we have known in the past!

Not ever having experienced the grandeur of the Canadian Mountains in autumn — the beauty of the snowcaps, the green backdrop of the pines and fir, and the brilliant yellows, bronzes and reds at every turn is absolutely breathtaking in the cool crisp morning air.

The first swing across the province (our trailer in tow) included stop-overs at Paulhaven — now well established and developed with a lodge, cottages and facilities for young and old for learning and relaxation; on to Meadow Lake, Sask., Roblin, Man., Winnipeg, back, Rosthern to North Battleford, Calgary, Alta., Creston, B.C. and back to Kelowna. Later on a trip was made to the Vancouver Society.

I compiled a list of names of all the children and young people (not having an organized Sunday School) and supplied them with lesson materials from our A.N.C.S.S., diligently collated and mailed by the Fryeburg pastor and helpers. We sorted them over again and mailed them to individual families. The young people's names and addresses of League age were given to the National president of the League, and they are now on the mailing list for the Clear Blue Sky.

The hospitality of the groups visited is genuine and warm. The territory is extremely extensive, actually from the Pacific coast to Winnipeg would be approximately 1800 miles, though I believe the terminology of "Mission Field" no longer applies to the place or people.

Schoolhouses and Churches used for services in the past years have taken on a new look — refurbished and painted. Homes are also used, with portable altar and appointments giving a "We Care" appearance. An organ buff would have a field day playing the variety of new and antique reed organs — very playable with ornate wood carvings. Almost all the former locations are still the same. Some of the older generation have gone to the higher life, while some have relocated in this world! Babies baptized 30 years ago are now Moms and Dads!

We have found in general that the New Church people here are much more concerned with the teachings of the church, explained and expressed as they apply to daily living, rather than with liturgy and forms.

In the Okanagan Valley (meeting of the waters), home meetings are held monthly, and some devoted members drive 85 miles one way to attend morning worship. A dinner always follows, as well as discussion and a social time. Religious discussions are lively and varied. One cannot help but be stimulated after such a session, and the enthusiasm is catching.

Edmonton has three dedicated lay ministers and Rosthern and North Battleford have a strong lay leader; the minister from St. Paul now comes to Winnipeg a few times a year and Vancouver has a layman leading the group. The zeal and loyalty of these leaders is to be admired as they hold the groups together.

Erwin will try to make three trips a year across the country. He does concentrate on the Okanagan group and Calgary since travel time, cost and weather are not too complicated.

While we miss our many friends and acquaintances south of the border, we have been warmly welcomed back to the land of our birth. As the wild geese fly back in their V formation, we feel good about where we are and what we are doing!

ALLIANCE STUDY COURSE

TAKING THE LOWEST SEATS

Luke 14:7-11; Mitchell 377-386; Sower V 311-312; Clowes Luke 292-293.

The Lord often told parables about things near at hand; he was at a dinner, and that meal became a parable. The only reference in our church teachings to this parable about taking seats at dinner is AC 6393, which points out that those who desire a reward for what they do are indignant if they do not receive a greater reward than others; they place happiness in external things, that they may be exalted and have dominion. Such people even want to be chiefs in heaven, not knowing that heavenly happiness consists in being willing to serve others, and to be the least, not the greatest.

INVITING GUESTS TO THE FEAST

Luke 14:2-14; Sower V 312; Clowes Luke 293-295.

AC 2371 (4) says that a dinner, supper or feast denotes the good of charity, and the Lord's dwelling place with man is in charity. This parable shows that recompense is in the good itself.

MAKING EXCUSES

Luke 14:16-24; Mitchell 387-399; Sower V 312; Clowes Luke 295-297.

AE 252 (2) says that by the supper is meant the church and heaven; those invited but who excused themselves were the Jews, rich because they had the Word. The poor, maimed, blind and halt were those outside of the church, the Gentiles. AC 2336 (4) explains that these were in a life of good, and these Gentiles might be informed about the Lord's kingdom. AE 223 (22) says that a city denotes doctrines, and streets and lanes, the truth of doctrine. So the instruction means to inquire for those who receive the truths of doctrine. The Sower explains the three excuses given, as a successively stronger grip by natural and evil things; these make it more and more difficult, and finally impossible to leave them. "I have bought a piece of ground" well describes a youthful interest in opportunities of the world, which may keep one from an interest in spiritual things. The oxen represent affections for heaven. The marriage which makes it impossible to come is the union of falsity and evil confirmed in an evil life.

RUTH MARTIN Board of Education

I have a strong interest in becoming a member of the Board of Education. I have worked for the Board of Education for approximately five years, developing and leading youth and adult workshops and Retreats (including WEYS and SNAP).

I feel that my training as a psychologist and my job experience organizing programs for children and adults have given me knowledge and experience that can be a useful contribution to the Board of Education. Our Church, present and future, means a lot to me. I feel that the Church has given a great deal to me and enriched my life. I would like to return this service through participation on the Board of Education.

1980 Convention Children's Program

Hey kids, Convention is for you too!!! If you've never been to one, it's a time when members of our church get together for meetings and other stuff. Adults have usually thought of it as being just for them, but just like last year we are going to show them that we can get together and learn a lot of neat things, see a lot of interesting places, and do other fun things.

If you are four or younger, Wellesley has this really neat playground and there will be adults with you every day from 9 till 9 who know games to play and stories to tell. If you are five or older, we'll also be getting together every day from Wednesday evening through Sunday morning. We'll have time for crafts, songs, talking with ministers, games, acting in a play, and seeing the New England Aquarium and the Children's Science Museum. Don't worry about not seeing your parents enough. Every day they will come and get you for lunch and dinner, and every night after we've had our party they'll take you back to your room.

If your parents are coming to Convention, ask them if you can come along. If they say yes, then pack your bags and I'll see you in Wellesley, Massachusetts.

Ron Brugler

All adult members please note: Last year twenty seven adults worked in the children's program, most for only one or two hours per day. If you are willing to spend some time helping with this important project, please get in touch with me soon at 225 Beau's Drive, Portersville, PA 16051. If possible, tell me what you can do; if you don't know, we always need someone to just help out. Thanks!

BOARD OF EDUCATION SPONSORS LEAGUERS

At the fall meeting of the BOE held in Fryeburg, Maine the board voted to continue its sponsorship of one leaguer from each Association for room and board at the 1980 convention, held on the campus of Wellesley College, June 25 — 29. Our theme this year is "The New Church in the New Decade." A full and interesting ANCL program is being planned.

The board recommends, when possible, that different leaguers from each Association be chosen each year and that emphasis be placed on choosing younger leaguers.

Due partly to board sponsorship, the number of leaguers attending the 1979 convention was the largest in some time. We would like to have a league representative from every Association this year.

CAMP BLAIRHAVEN

Camp Blairhaven, located on the shores of Duxbury Bay, adjacent to Miles Standish Park provides an opportunity to enjoy fellowship, recreation, and spiritual growth. It's first session of the season runs from Sunday, June 29 to Saturday, July 12 for children ages 8 to 10 yrs. and the second session from Sunday, July 26 for children ages 11 thru 13.

A typical day begins with flag raising, breakfast, an outdoor Chapel service and a morning program. Lunch, followed by a rest period, then a varied afternoon program is enjoyed. Religious education, sports, swimming and arts and crafts are a part of each day's schedule. The evening meal, a game and vespers close a busy and rewarding day.

The "Barn" with its rustic atmosphere, yet with all the modern conveniences, houses the male campers and staff on the second floor, while the first floor is used for rainy day activities, such as gymnastics and ping - pong. The kitchen and dining area are so situated as to create a family style atmosphere. Accomodations for female campers and staff are located in the second floor bedrooms.

The day's activities are planned around swimming at high tide, which is supervised by a certified Red Cross Lifesaver. Hikes, such as to Miles Standish Monument, nature walks, scavenger hunts, taffy pulls, are included in the activities, as well as volleyball, badminton, archery, basketball, touch football, tether ball, soft ball, Capture the Flag, and the Blairhaven Olympics.

A quiet discussion of the day's Bible lesson amidst the tall cedars, has instilled in many campers a lasting love and understanding of God's Universe.

The capacity of the camp is limited to 16 girls and 16 boys so it is important that parents wishing to send their children to apply as soon as possible. The camp fee is $50.00 per week, plus an outing and educational fee of $15.00 and a registration fee (non - refundable) of $5.00. For information and applications write to Camp Blairhaven, c/o Massachusetts New Church Union, 79 Newbury St., Boston, MA. 02116.

This year the State of Massachusetts requires that all campers as well as staff counselors have a rigid physical examination before being accepted at camp.

Anyone seeking to be a counselor who is of college age and has had at least a year of experience as a camp counselor should apply as soon as possible stating his or her qualifications. Those who meet the requirements above who in addition hold a Red Cross Water Safety certificate will be given first consideration.

Attention New Church families! The Camp facilities for the months of August and September are available on a weekly basis. For cost and other details write at once to the address stated above.
